

Interested in research?

We are looking for a...

Student Research Assistant ("Hiwi"), 8h/week

We seek a student research assistant ("Hiwi") who is interested in behavioral research and who would like to become part of our research group on Cognition and Consumer Behavior. The group is led by Professor Benjamin Scheibehenne and we are part of the KIT Institute of Information System and Marketing (IISM). Student research assistants will support the realization of behavioral experiments (both online and in the lab), help with data analyses, search and review scientific literature, and work on administrative tasks such as website updates. We look for students who are interested in empirical behavioral research and who are fluent in English. Some IT knowledge and programming skills are a plus.

Starting date:

01.07.2021 or upon mutual agreement

Contact:

Applications including a short curriculum vitae and a copy of the transcript of the grades or diploma can be sent to hannah.seidler@kit.edu. All applications submitted until the 1st of June 2021 will receive full consideration.

For further information, please contact Hannah Seidler.